Sparkling Days

Addressing the different body concerns of Femme care supplements for different concerns

Even though it is simply called femme care, there are concerns for each age group, such as "bust enlargement", "fertility efforts", "menopausal care", and "delicate zone care".

We focused on three categories with promising markets and created demo products that could be commercialized immediately.

Mental PMS countermeasures

Lafuma extract

grapefruit flavor

Foods with functional claims in the field of "improving sleep quality" Herbal material that has been accepted as a product. There is abundant evidence that it improves stress relief, depressive symptoms and PMS/menopausal symptoms.

In February 2024 in the field of "mental health" A new notification display is now available.

Functional components :

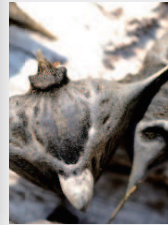

Hyperoside from Lafuma
Isoquercitrin from Lafuma

Notification display Lafuma-derived hyperoside and Lafuma-derived isoquercitrin have been shown to reduce the temporary dull mood before menstruation and to improve sleep quality (versus sleep upon waking) in healthy adult women with normal menstrual cycles. It has been reported that it helps improve the sense of satisfaction that people experience.

Countermeasures against frequent urination

water chestnut extract

grape flavor

Water chestnut is a type of aquatic plant and is used as a herbal medicine. Also known as water chestnut for. It has antioxidant effects and suppresses prostate enlargement, and is effective in preventing frequent urination in both men and women.

Functional components:

Polyphenols derived from the skin of Cornus pericarp

Notification display It has been reported that polyphenols derived from the peel of the horsetail fruit have the ability to alleviate the annoyance associated with frequent urination (the troubled feeling caused by feeling that the toilet is close) in healthy middle-aged and elderly people who feel that he toilet is nearby.

Measures against cold swelling

Hihatsu extract

apple ginger flavor

A plant related to pepper, Used as a spice in Asia including Okinawa. It is characterized by its fast-acting properties, as it is effective for both "coldness" and "swelling" by taking it.

Functional components:

Piperines derived from Hihatsu

Notification display It has been reported that piperines derived from Hihatsu have the ability to normalize blood flow (peripheral blood flow) that has decreased due to coldness, and to reduce the drop in skin surface temperature of the periphery (hands and feet) caused by coldness. It has also been reported that it has the ability to reduce evening leg swelling (non-pathological, temporary swelling) in healthy women who are concerned about leg swelling.

This is a demo product that can be commercialized immediately. Please feel free to contact us.

*Health claims (reported display) may change as they are still being reported.
